William G. (Bill) Ressl is a Candidate for a PhD in Theology, Ethics and the Human Sciences focused on the boundary of pastoral theology and social work from the Chicago Theological Seminary, Chicago. He is also an ordained minister in the United Church of Christ co-serving Trinity Community Church, UCC in Berwyn, IL since 2003 and a Licensed Clinical Social Worker, LCSW, in the State of Illinois in private practice. He received a BA in Economics from Lewis University attended classes towards a JD/MBA at IIT Chicago Kent College of Law, holds a MDiv from the Chicago Theological Seminary, MSW from Dominican University, and a post-graduate certificate in Bowen family systems theory and psychotherapy from the Center for Family Consultation. Prior to ministry he held positions in both the for-profit and not-for-profit sectors. His teaching and research interests include pastoral theology and social work, the concept of "listening love" from the theology of Paul Tillich, the functions of the church as ritual process, Bowen family systems theory, and the systematic etiology of depression. Bill's essay "The Courage to Become: A Paradigm for Being and Acting as a Pastoral Care Agent Committed to the Care of God's Creation" has been accepted by the National Council of Churches for inclusion in their forthcoming "God's Earth is Sacred" Anthology.