The symbol represents the idea that one must take from the past what is good and bring it into the present in order to make positive progress through the benevolent use of knowledge. It can be represented by a bird with its head turned backwards taking an egg off its back. Sankofa is actually an Akan word meaning go back and take. Sanko- go back, fa-take. This idea has since been adopted by other tribes in the area and other cultures around the world. The Asante people of Ghana use an Adinkra symbol to represent this same idea and a version of it looks like this.

Adinkra symbols are used by the Asante to express proverbs and other philosophical ideas. They are numerous and are used throughout the world because of their aesthetic and spiritual beauty.

The Sankofa course is 3 credit hours. Traditional Seminary tuition is $500/ per credit hour. The cost to audit the course is $150.00.

- ◆ The course includes a Chicago Sankofa Journey which takes place Friday through Sunday, October 5-7, 2012.

COURSE DESCRIPTION: The course approaches the challenges of racism, justice and reconciliation through a theological and biblical framework aimed at equipping students for ministry in multicultural settings. Through a variety of readings, one on one conversation, lectures and visits to places where these challenges are being addressed, participants get an experiential perspective on the subject. The goal is to provide information on the challenges of racial justice, especially as it relates to the church as well as to transform participants into agents of racial reconciliation as part of their ministry and leadership.

This is a required course for the Certificate in Justice Ministries.

The certificate provides a foundational basis for doing justice ministries rooted in a biblical and theological understanding. The range of areas that the certificate can focus on includes: ecology, race, economy and gender. The certificate will give both a theoretical and practical approach to the student who wants to do ministry in this area. While not required, consideration may be given to a student who in consults with the director for the Center for Justice Ministries whether an internship in a given area may be part of such preparation for ministry.

Course Objectives: At the end of the course the student will be able to:

1. Have historical knowledge of the civil rights struggle, in both the South and the North.
2. Be able to think theologically and biblically why the struggle for racial justice and reconciliation is crucial to ministry.
3. Do critical analysis of the contemporary state of race relations.
4. Explore issues of race for the benefit of your future ministry.
5. Be familiar with resources for teaching on racial justice in the local church.
6. Have a clear Biblical foundation for ministries of reconciliation.
7. Be aware and conversant about issues of racial discrimination and injustice that are still present in Chicago.
8. Have some in-depth awareness of a particular Chicago neighborhood/community as focus for racial/ethnic change and the role of the church therein.
9. Create authentic relationship and community with people of other races and ethnicities.
10. Be engaged and committed to staying on the journey to recognize, speak to its presence, and eradicate racism
