

Music (MUS)

Johnson (dean), Bauer, Davids, Hudgens, Lill, Shofner-Emrich, Zelle

The mission of the School of Music is to prepare our students to lead lives of significance and service through the medium of music. We are Christian in identity and character yet welcoming to students of all perspectives. As a professional faculty, we seek to help students develop their full potential as musicians who are excellent performers, teachers, scholars, composers, conductors, and ministers of music; understanding that together we encourage students to gain a multicultural musical perspective through a diverse curriculum and challenging performance opportunities.

To facilitate these aims for music majors, five degrees are offered. The Bachelor of Arts in Music is a broad-based liberal arts degree. The Bachelor of Music in Performance is a professional program and is, therefore, more intensive in academic and applied music studies. The Bachelor of Music in Music Education (choral and instrumental) is a professional program which results in K–12 certification qualifying graduations to teach music in the Illinois public school system. The Bachelor of Music in Music in Worship is a professional program, equipping students with a broad set of skills required for ministry in the 21st century Christian church. The Bachelor of Music in Composition is a professional degree designed to prepare students for a variety of careers related to composition. All music majors must maintain a minimum grade point average of 2.5 in their academic music courses and a 3.0 in applied music. All programs are accredited by the National Association of Schools of Music (NASM).

Three other North Park University academic programs require emphasis in music studies. The music concentration of the Early Childhood/Elementary Education major meets state requirements as administered through the School of Education. The music minor and music in worship minor are designed to provide basic training in theory, history, aural skills and performance and can be combined with most majors outside of music.

Application Process

As soon as possible after applying to the University, prospective music majors, minors, and concentrations must be evaluated for acceptance into the School of Music. The evaluation will consist of a theory placement exam and keyboard placement (if applicable), sight reading, and an audition. Repertoire requirements vary by instrument. See website for details.

To audition for a music scholarship, students must submit an online audition request form, and a resume listing previous musical study, musical activities, and goals for further music study. Recordings are acceptable although a live audition is preferred. If an audition is not possible on our published audition days, an individual audition date may be arranged, but is not guaranteed. Auditions scheduled after our published audition dates may not receive full music scholarship consideration.

Following one year of music study, prospective music majors must apply for acceptance into their music major of choice. At the point of application and beyond, students must have and maintain a minimum 2.0 overall GPA, 2.5 academic music course GPA, and 3.0 applied music GPA. Additional requirements for acceptance into each major may apply (e.g., BMP majors must perform a degree approval jury). Please see the Undergraduate School of Music Handbook for details.

Any non-music major with previous music training and experience who wishes to be considered for a music scholarship should follow the same procedure as outlined above.

Additional details can be found at www.northpark.edu/music.
