Fax: 773-244-5285
E-mail: cmarsh@northpark.edu

Office Hours: Please e-mail me to schedule a phone or on-line appointment.

Schedule: Course opens Friday, March 14 with the first deadline at midnight (CDT) on Thursday, March 20. The final course assignment is due at 8:00 AM (CDT), Monday, May 5.

Before you Begin: Read the welcome message on the Announcements page and peruse the syllabus to gain clarity on course requirements.

Introductory Comments:

Until recently, business school curricula focused heavily upon the technical side of management and required completion of courses in the fields of economics, accounting, finance, operations and other courses that are based on quantitative analysis. Over the past decade, however, it has become increasingly clear that without human and organizational skills, the best trained technical manager will not be effective in developing and retaining a competitive pool of talent. For succeeding in management, while technical skills are necessary, they are insufficient if we are to compete in today's competitive and demanding workplace.

Additionally, while an understanding of organizational theory is essential, theoretical frameworks must be grounded in a practical real world context if real learning is to take place. For this reason, students who register for this class are required to have access to an organization for the completion of course assignments.

Course Description and Student Learning Objectives:

The purpose of this course is to develop an understanding of human behavior in changing organizations and the managerial awareness, tools and methods that are available to increase effectiveness. The course surveys principles and theories about individuals and groups at work, motivation and interactive drives and processes for satisfying needs, organization strategies for effectively utilizing people and creating the environment to achieve goals of people and companies. The course also surveys ethical issues and the rational integration of ethical thinking and decision-making in competitive organizations. New models of teams, organization structure and organizational development practices are studied as the product of today's transforming organizations.

Course Objectives: We will be focusing on the following general IDEA learning objectives during this course.

Comprehend fundamental principles, generalizations and theories: To successfully meet each of the eleven course objectives listed below you will be required to demonstrate knowledge of basic course principles, generalizations and theories, as discussed in the reading. The reading assignments are intended to help students acquire factual knowledge regarding fundamental principles and theories of leadership and ethics. Knowledge of principles and theories will be demonstrated in weekly discussions, journals and papers.

Ask questions and seek answers for further learning: To successfully meet each of the eleven course objectives listed below, you will be required to engage in weekly discussion forums, where true dialogue can take place. Dialogue involves posting your own thoughts on the topic and developing the thread that develops around your thoughts. The forum is also a place for you to engage critically with the thoughts and ideas of the other students. Your questions should demonstrate a desire to learn from other students in the course.

Develop a clearer understanding of, and commitment to, personal values: To successfully meet each of the objectives listed below, but most particularly objectives 5 and 7, you will be required to engage not only in weekly discussion forums but also write a weekly journal and a final paper. In completing these assignments, you will examine the relevance of course concepts in light of your real world experience. You will be required to express your own values and beliefs as you determine your fit with your current work and examine the type of work and organization that will allow you to be an appropriate mission fit.

Through North Park's efforts to determine student learning and satisfaction levels, the Office of Distributed Learning will be conducting a course evaluation at the end of this term. Please keep the above learning objectives in mind, as well as your level of achievement of these objectives, for the end-of-term evaluation.

In alignment with the overall general objectives stated above, the student who successfully completes the course will be able to:

1. Discuss current challenges and ethical issues prevalent within the workplace.
2. Determine the relationship between social responsibility and ethics.
3. Examine the differences in values across cultures and generations.
4. Examine the role and impact of values, personality and emotion on the ability to manage and achieve organizational success.
5. Integrate into discussions and written paper an awareness of their personality, beliefs, values and ethics and the associated impact on happiness at work and success in achievement of organizational goals.
6. Distinguish among the many motivational theories and apply those most relevant to the work environment.
7. Identify the historical ethical philosophies prevalent within the work environment.
8. Identify the historical ethical philosophies most closely associated with their own behavior.
9. Determine the impact of human resources strategies on ethical behavior.
10. Determine the role of organizational structure on ethical behavior.
11. Determine the role of organizational culture on ethical behavior.

Required Texts:

McShane, S.L., Von Glinow, M.A., Organizational Behavior: Essentials, 2nd Edition, McGraw-Hill Irwin, 2009, ISBN: 978-0-07-338122-0

Ferrell, O.C, Fraedrich, H. & Ferrell, L., Business Ethics: Ethical Decision Making and Cases, 9th Edition, South-Western Cengage, 2012, ISBN: 978-1111825164

Required Online Assessments:

Self-Assessments are posted under the weekly assignments. Be certain to complete, score and reflect upon the self-assessments prior to participating in the forums each week.

Additional Readings: All other required and optional reading assignments can be found on the Moodle course site under the topic for the week for which the readings are assigned or recommended.

Course Prerequisites:

This course has no prerequisites. All directions and support are provided for the assignments in this course.

However, it is expected that participants know how to perform basic tasks such as sending email with attachments, creating, editing and saving documents in a file structure, and performing web searches.

Course Teaching and Learning Methods:

Because this course is being taught in intensive format, it is very important for students to keep up with reading assignments and online discussions of the reading. Indeed, it is not possible to successfully complete this course without a good understanding of the assigned readings and other course materials. Questions will be posted by the course facilitator on the course site on a weekly basis to stimulate the discussion. Responses should not be directed to the course facilitator but can and should be in response to the thoughts and ideas of other students as well. One or two students will be assigned each week to serve as discussion leaders. It will be the responsibility of these students to provide the opening “posting” to that week’s discussion question, to “manage” the discussion during the week, and to summarize key points at the end of that week.

Most assignments (see weekly assignments folder for more specifics) will be posted on-line for class member review and comments. I expect that each student will provide constructive and timely feedback to other class members on assignments. While the course facilitator may also provide online feedback on assignments, grades for each course assignment will be given privately.

Important note: I see my role as your instructor as a “learning facilitator.” Rest assured that that I am reading your posts on a daily basis and I am also visiting your online group discussions. I will not necessarily respond to each and every posting, but I will jump in to discussions when I feel that an important point needs to be made or if the discussion needs to be redirected. More often than not, however, I will rely upon you to share important learnings and observations. I expect that you will take active responsibility for your own learning throughout this course. I will guide you along the way.

Course Schedule:

Discussion questions for the week will be posted by Saturday morning so that we can begin discussion of the topic by Monday evening of each week. Thus, it is essential that you complete your assigned readings for each week as early as possible (by Sunday evening) in order to provide meaningful and substantive discussion comments. Kicking off a discussion means posting some of your reflections and thoughts about the assigned readings and/or posts from the previous week that lead into the current week's topics. When you cite the readings of another post, please include your references and/or page numbers so that we can all follow your thinking. Your post should never be longer than 2-3 paragraphs or 200 words.

Computer Requirements:

In order to effectively participate in and successfully complete this course, each participant will need to have access to a computer and a high-speed internet connection. Please visit <http://www.northpark.edu/Campus-Life-and-Services/Information-Technology/Network/Minimum-Requirements> for information on computer requirements.

Technical Skills Required:

The orientation in Moodle should be completed before beginning this course. Other than having the ability to function in Moodle, students should be able to write papers using MS Word. Additionally, PowerPoint will be needed to access slides that are posted as resources for the week.

Student Responsibilities:

1. Attendance, presence, and full participation are required for this class. You cannot successfully complete this course without completing the weekly readings and assignments. You are expected to log in a minimum of 4-5 times per week (at any time during the week) and are expected to post a substantive contribution to the discussion at least 3-4 times per week (see Guidelines for Writing Good Discussion Threads and Posts in the Course Information Book at the top of the main page on the Moodle page for the course). Simply saying "hello" or "I agree" is not considered a substantive contribution (see below for posting suggestions). You must support your position or begin a new topic or add somehow to the discussion when logging on. Those posts which are relevant, incorporate ideas from the readings and other sources, extend ideas raised in other posts, and demonstrate an accurate and complex understanding of that week's topic have the best likelihood of receiving the full points possible each week. In general, students should make a minimum of one original post and responses to three other students' posts in each forum. Do not go overboard with posting—I do not give extra credit for excessive posting. Use common sense, make your posts easy for others to read and keep in mind my golden rule of posting: quality of comments is more important than the quantity!

2. Most assignments will be posted on-line. You will be asked to comment and provide feedback to one another on your work.
3. Although I strongly suggest that all issues, questions, and problems be dealt with online, I will consider any request for a telephone appointment. Use good “netiquette” (see A Guide to Netiquette in the Course Information Book in the top area of the Moodle course site).
4. When taught in the traditional format, this class meets for three hours and twenty minutes per week for seven weeks. I normally advise students to plan on spending 3-4 hours outside of class for every hour spent in class. Because the content load is similar, you should plan on spending 10-12 hours per week on course responsibilities (e.g. reading, assignments, online discussion).
5. The most predictable breakdown occurs when students are late in posting their papers and responses. This is often the result of illness, business trips, overload, and computer glitches. Be aware that the learning of your peers will be disrupted by your lateness! Call me as soon as possible if a situation arises which will affect a due date or your peers, and post a message to the group. Remember to post regularly, even just to say you’re still out there.

Course Instructor Responsibilities:

1. The course instructor will design the course and learning modules in such a way that students have every opportunity to achieve the learning objectives.
2. While the course instructor will not lead the online discussion, she will provide reactions to student responses and discussion as appropriate in order to clarify important ideas and concepts.
3. The course instructor will provide opportunities for group work in class that will include discussion as well as hands-on exercises.
4. The course instructor will provide updated information on relevant resources for the various topics of interest.
5. The course instructor will read and critically assess students’ assignments and provide feedback within 7-10 days of receipt.
6. The course instructor will respond to all student e-mails within 48 hours of receipt.
7. The course instructor will respond to all student phone calls within 48 hours.
8. The course instructor will evaluate student progress in the class and provide a final narrative evaluation for each student (in addition to the assignment of a letter grade).

2. PAJ (Personal Application Journal)

100 maximum points

Weeks 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6 you are to submit a short synopsis (750-1000 words) each week to the instructor highlighting your most significant learnings from that week's readings, self assessments, discussion forum or other learning activities as well as any new observations you have about that week's topic or questions that you may have. The synopsis will answer the questions:

- What? (What have I learned?)
- So What? (What difference does it make?)
- Now What? (How will it impact the way I know, do or be?)

You will receive up to a maximum of 20 points for each submission. These submissions are due according to the schedule shown below:

PAJ Journal Due Dates:

- Week 1: Monday, March 24 at 8:00 am CDT
- Week 2: Monday, March 31 at 8:00 am CDT
- Week 3: Monday, April 7 at 8:00 am CDT

3. Paper - Am I a good fit with my organization?

50 maximum points

During week 5 (due by 8:00 AM CDT Tuesday, April 22) you will write an 8-10 page paper (not including title page, abstract and reference list) in APA Format, drawing upon information from weeks 1 – 4, discuss your values, personality, decision making style, ethical philosophy and motivation and answer the question, “ Am I a good fit with my organization?” The paper should follow the points outlined below.

1. Introduce your organization and the role you play.
2. Use your reflections from your MIP and any additional thoughts gained from your readings, assessments and group discussion, discuss your values, attitudes, motivation, ethical, philosophy, personality and decision making style.
3. Answer the questions:
 - a. What does my organization value? Is it the same thing they say they value? How do you know?
 - b. How are my organization’s values similar or different from my own?
 - c. What are the personalities and decision-making styles of my superiors? Can I be sufficiently flexible in order to work with them? Why, or why not?
4. Am I mission matched? Am I in alignment with my organization’s ethical practices?
5. Summarize and close.

Paper Scoring Rubric:

Criteria for Paper Scoring – Use the criteria below to check on your progress. Use the matrix in conjunction with the outline provided for the topical development of the paper.

The paper should follow the outline provided in the syllabus and the course assignments, but the outline is not a series of questions to be answered. The outline is a guide for developing the paper/project report through which your knowledge of core course concepts will be demonstrated. In other words, this assignment is not a series of short essays, rather it should be a cohesive paper developed around a key topic with proper introduction and conclusion.

4. Final Project – Case Analysis

50 maximum points

During week 7 (due by 8:00 A.M. CDT, Monday May 5), together with your team you will choose one of the organizations for which a case has been written in Part IV of the Ferrell, Fraedrich and Ferrell text. As a team you will analyze the organizational makeup and ethical issues facing the organization. In addition to the material presented in the case, some outside research from sources with internal knowledge of the organization will be required to complete this assignment. Use the following outline to prepare your analysis:

1. What are (were) the mission and values of the organization?

2. How would you describe the ethical approach and behavior of the organization and its leadership?
3. What human resource strategies and practices (have) helped this organization? Which ones (have) hindered it?
4. Describe the organizational structure and work design and indicate whether it has been a factor in the ethical situation described in the case.
5. What are (were) the pillars of the organizational culture? Is (Was) it a strong or weak culture? How has (did) the culture contribute to the company's ethical profile?
6. (Was) Is the organization in alignment with its articulated mission and values?

Final Project Scoring Rubric:

Criteria for Team Project Scoring – Use the criteria below to check on your progress. Use the matrix in conjunction with the outline provided for the development of the final project slide presentation.

The project report should follow the outline provided in the syllabus and the assignments in module 7, but the outline is not a series of questions to be answered in your research – knowledge of which should be demonstrated in the report. The outline is a guide for developing the project report through which your knowledge of core course concepts will be demonstrated.

APA: Although it is a PowerPoint presentation, it should still begin with an abstract and end with a list of references.

Course Polices:

Academic Honesty

In keeping with our Christian heritage and commitment, North Park University (NPU) and the SBNM are committed to the highest possible ethical and moral standards. Just as we will constantly strive to live up to these high standards, we expect our students to do the same. To that end, cheating of any sort will not be tolerated. Students who are discovered cheating are subject to discipline up to and including failure of a course and expulsion.

Our definition of cheating includes but is not limited to:

- Plagiarism – the use of another’s work as one’s own without giving credit to the individual. This includes using materials from the Internet.
- Copying another’s answers on an examination.
- Deliberately allowing another to copy one’s answers or work.
- Signing an attendance roster for another who is not present.

In the special instance of group work, the instructor will make clear his/her expectations with respect to individual vs. collaborative work. A violation of these expectations may be considered cheating as well. For further information on this subject you may refer to the Academic Dishonesty section of the University’s Catalog (available at www.northpark.edu). In conclusion, it is North Park’s mission to prepare you for a life of significance and service.

Honesty and ethical behavior are the foundation upon which such lives are built. We therefore expect the highest standards of each student in this regard.

Attendance

The graduate courses in the SBNM are all 7 weeks in length. Missing one class session is allowed without penalty as long as all readings and assignments are made up by the student within a reasonable time period (the following week). Failing to log into an online course site for an entire week is allowed, but a penalty may be applied at the instructor's discretion and discussion forums, and/or other assignments that require student interaction cannot be made up. Missing a second class session is allowed only in unusual circumstances by prior arrangement with the instructor. Since this represents almost 30% of the engagement time for the course, the student runs the risk of receiving a lower overall grade for the class. Faculty are encouraged to drop the course grade by a full letter grade in this situation. A student who misses three classes (or the equivalent two weeks for an online class) will automatically fail the course, unless the student drops the course before the seventh week of class. Students who drop a course will be held responsible for tuition, based upon the current North Park University refund policy outlined in the University Catalog.

Disabilities

Students with disabilities who believe that they may need accommodations in this class are encouraged to contact the SBNM program office (773-244-6270). Please do so as soon as possible to better ensure that such accommodations are implemented in a timely manner. For further information please review the following website: <http://www.northpark.edu/Campus-Life-and-Services/Disability-Resources>.

APA Guidelines:

Effective August 2009, the School of Business and Nonprofit Management (SBNM) will adopt the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA) as the standard and required format for all written assignments in SBNM courses.

Our goal in adopting the APA Manual is to enhance student learning by:

- 1) Improving students' writing skills.
- 2) Standardizing the required format of all written assignments in all SBNM courses.
- 3) Emphasizing the importance of paper mechanics, grammatical constructs, and the necessity of proper citations.
- 4) Holding students accountable for high quality written work.

If you are unfamiliar with the requirements of the APA Manual, we recommend that you purchase the reference manual and/or that you consult one or more of the suggested resources below. It is your responsibility to learn the specifics of the APA Manual and to ensure that all written work is formatted accordingly.

Purdue University's writing lab has a plethora of online APA-specific resources that may be beneficial (<http://owl.english.purdue.edu/owl/resource/560/01/>). In particular, we are strongly encouraging you to download and review a general orientation to APA basics entitled "APA PowerPoint Slide Presentation" that can be found via the below link. In addition, a sample paper formatted according to APA standards with explanatory comments can also be found via the below link.
