Course Description:

This course deals with the overall general management of the organization. It is concerned with the determination of strategic direction for the firm, as well as the management of strategic processes within the firm, and emphasizes application of leadership skills to strategic management.

Emphasis will be placed on providing leadership to develop strategies that will maintain the organization's congruence with its environment; economic, socio/cultural, political/legal, and technological. The course systematically focuses on the general manager's task in the context of leading the process of crafting and executing strategy including establishing the mission and strategy. We will explore the concepts and analytic tools to evaluate a company's external environment, resources, and competitive position. To define how to craft strategy, we will review the various approaches companies use to craft strategy by selecting the strategy to employ for their business, evaluate choices, discern how to compete in foreign markets and diversify, and identify how to deploy an ethical business strategy which incorporates social responsibility and environmental sustainability. Lastly, we will evaluate how organizations execute strategy, focusing on building organizational capabilities, managing internal operations, and developing corporate culture and leadership.

As the capstone course for the School of Business and Nonprofit Management's master program, we will integrate the concepts taught throughout other courses and apply them along with this course's concepts to an evaluation of an organization's strategy. We will additionally re-enforce this learning through the use of an online business simulation – Capstone. This simulation is designed to teach strategy, competitive analysis, finance, cross-functional alignment, and the selection of tactics to build a successful and focused company. Class members work in teams and with the challenge to turn around a poor-performing, $100 million company, with five average products, in very different market segments, while satisfying customer demands for better, faster and cheaper products. With five to eight years to build success, there is immediate pressure for the management team to develop a strategy and implement it thoroughly with every decision.

Course Objectives

IDEA objectives for this course are as follows:

1. Learning fundamental principles, generalizations, and theories
2. Developing specific skills, competencies, and points of view needed by professionals in the field most closely related to this course.
3. Learning to analyze and critically evaluated ideas ideas, arguments, and points of view.

During this course, the student will:

1. State factual knowledge of what defines “strategy” and why it is important for organizations.
2. Identify the concepts and analytic tools used by companies to evaluate their external environment, resources, and competition.
3. Develop and apply specific skills, competencies, and points of view needed by organizational leaders to determine the strategic direction of the organization and execute to achieve that direction.
4. Apply the concepts taught in this course and other program courses in the evaluation of an organization’s strategy.

Also, over the course of each week, the student will:

- Acquire and formulate the elements necessary to create a vision and mission statement for an organization functioning in a global marketplace.
- Apply the analytic frameworks and critical thinking to evaluate an industry, a firm, and competition
- Recognize the elements of the five generic competitive strategies and understand which one to employ given certain industry and competitive conditions.
- Define the elements necessary and options available to execute a defined strategy, and how those move/options strengthen a company’s competitive position.
- Acquire the components of strategic approaches for competing in international markets.
- Illustrate the concept of diversification and how this strategy can generate business value.
- Demonstrate the connection of business ethics to strategy and how to balance corporate social responsibility/environmental sustainability with value generation for shareholders.
- Recognize what organizational needs (people, capabilities, and structure) are necessary to build an organization capable of good strategy execution.
- Summarize how well-designed policies and processes, proper resource allocation, and applying process management can facilitate good strategy execution.
- Define how and why a company’s culture can aid the drive for successful strategy execution and operating excellence.

Assignments – Overview / Instructions

In addition to the overview of assignments below, instructions and a grading rubric are posted on Moodle. Please reference each week and for each assignment.

Class Discussion

Total Points	50

- Class discussion is a combination of general discussion questions and response to case summaries prepared by the class participants.
- The nature of the content of this course is such that students benefit greatly from dialogue and debate about ideas, issues, and strategy. Active participation is essential!
- Each week, several Discussion Questions and/or Case Questions will posed/presented to the class.
 - Class Participation/Discussion: There will be other in-class discussion topics presented about the materials presented and other matters related to strategic management. You are expected to fully engage and contribute to the conversation, bringing in your own experience, observations, research, and/or questions.
 - Case Discussion: You are expected to review the write-up of a class member and discuss in small and large group sessions the Case Study based on the case write-up, the Case Response Questions, and your overall assessment of the case write-up/addressing of the case questions.
- NOTE: You should expect that 100% of class discussion points are NOT a given. These must be earned.

NORTH PARK UNIVERSITY
School of Business and Non-Profit Management

Case Study

Assignment Points	150
Total Points	450

- Case Studies are a valuable learning experience for graduate business education. This is an opportunity to apply theory to real world experiences and understand the more complex nuances of how business decisions are made. Also, case studies are intended to help develop your written communication/presentation skills, which are essential in business today.
- Case Studies are a critical component of this course. Cases are selected to cover specific topics, and also, touch upon topics from other disciplines. It is assumed you will reference materials from previous courses.
- Case studies are not perfectly clear, nor do they have one specific answer. They are intended to allow you to reference the relevant theories and think through the analysis and decision making for the business situation being presented. Case studies are NOT like homework – it is often difficult to just sit down, read the material, and work the questions. There is more involved.
- General requirements:
 - Write-ups should specifically address the presented questions for the case, and include the relevant, supporting analysis.
 - The final write-up should be submitted in the form of a memo.
 - There are 5 categories of evaluation of the case study – reference the Grading Rubric to review these.
- During the week, as you are reviewing the case study and working through the questions, if you have questions, ASK! You may post a question to the relevant question forum in Moodle or you may contact the Instructor. If you have a question, it is likely others do as well – so, the whole class benefits. Also, your learning experience will be better if you address the question early, rather than submitting an assignment that receives a poor grade and gets the feedback after the assignment is completed.

Capstone Simulation

Simulation Performance Points	200
Write-up Points	50
Peer Evaluation Points	50

- Detailed instructions for this assignment are posted in Moodle.
- High-Level Instructions:
 - Pre-Work: The instructions (posted on Moodle) should be read and reviewed thoroughly. There are numerous details (instructions, deadlines) for this assignment. Take the appropriate time to review.
 - Week 1: Practice decisions for the game will be due. Note: This assignment is completed in teams – partners will be selected at the start of Week 1. There are 2 Practice decision rounds to get acquainted with Capstone.
 - Weeks 2-6: Teams will make a total of 8 decisions – some weeks will have 2 decision rounds, some will have 1 (there will be a detailed schedule posted on Moodle). At the end of the decision period, the game will calculate each company’s performance. Each team will learn how your decisions change your company’s performance over an 8-year period.
 - Week 7: Each team will prepare a summary write-up (in Powerpoint) of their team’s strategy for the BSG, observations from the simulation, and lessons learned.
- ADHERING TO DEADLINES IS CRITICAL FOR THIS ASSIGNMENT.

School of Business and Non-Profit Management

Comp-XM (Competency Exam)

Simulation Performance Points	250
--------------------------------------	-----

- Detailed instructions for this assignment are posted in Moodle.
- This is an overall assessment simulation – it is comprehensive of the entire SBNM graduate business program.
- The simulation is similar to Capstone, so, students should be familiar with the logistics and format.
- It is anticipated that this assignment will require 6-8 hour to complete. It is recommended you plan accordingly to ensure completion by the deadline.
- This simulation consists of decisions and a series of board query questions that are specific to the results of the answers provided in the prior simulation rounds

Course Teaching and Learning Methods

This course covers a great deal of material in our 7 week timeframe; therefore, it is very important for students to keep up with readings and assignments. There are a number of requirements each week and it is each student's responsibility to ensure the assignments, requirements, and deadlines are understood.

The learning process in the graduate business education environment is not solely instructor-led. Students must create learning opportunities with one another. We are all instructors, students, and supporters in this learning environment.

The course uses individual and group assignments. It will be necessary to do group work and do so by meeting in person, working by phone, Skype, and/or email. This is very typical in business settings today, particularly global organizations that are geographically distributed. Pay attention to this and raise your level of communication with your classmates to ensure that you get the most from our learning environment and the course's assignments.

A key item for success in this course: If you have questions – ASK!!! The instructor can arrange individual or group discussions to clarify topics or assignments, post information, and adjust the overall management of the course. But, if students do not convey this need, it is not known. Two online forums within Moodle have also been provided for questions, in addition to our class time together.

Learning is best facilitated when we work together – do not work persistently on assignments where you are confused or not making progress. Ask a class member or instructor for guidance and help (per the guidelines established above with the overview of assignments).

Overall Expectations

1. It is important to complete all readings, post assignments on-time, and participate in the Discussion Forums each week.
2. If you encounter a problem with an assignment, ask questions. It is preferred that you post questions in the appropriate discussion forum that has been set up for that purpose. You may however contact the instructor with your question and you will receive a private response.

NORTH PARK UNIVERSITY
School of Business and Non-Profit Management

Participant Responsibilities

1. Engagement and full participation are required for this class. You cannot successfully complete this online course without completing the weekly readings and assignments. You are expected to read the text as assigned and complete the assigned problems based on the assigned deadlines.
2. Some assignments will be posted on-line for others to see. You will be asked to comment and provide feedback to one another on your work.
3. Although I strongly suggest that all issues, questions, and problems be dealt with online, you can feel free to call or e-mail me regarding these issues at any time, noting the office hours I am available.
4. Use proper “netiquette” (see A Guide to Netiquette in Course Information book on Moodle).
5. I normally advise participants to plan on spending 10-15 hours per week on course responsibilities (e.g. reading, assignments, Discussion Forums, case study analysis, paper research/analysis, etc.).

Course Facilitator (Instructor) Responsibilities

1. The course facilitator will design the course and learning modules in such a way that students have every opportunity to achieve the learning objectives.
2. The course facilitator will provide reactions to student responses and discussion as appropriate in order to clarify important ideas and concepts.
3. The course facilitator will provide opportunities for group work that will include discussion as well as hands-on exercises.
4. The course facilitator will provide updated information on relevant resources for the various topics of interest.
5. The course facilitator will read and critically assess students’ assignments and provide feedback within 3-5 days of receipt.
6. The course facilitator will respond to all student e-mails within 48 hours of receipt.
7. The course facilitator will respond to all student phone calls within 48 hours.

Communication Expectations

Communication skills are a major part of your academic and professional development. As this course is in the School of Business and Nonprofit Management, we will assume that I am an executive and you are an employee on my team. Therefore, every communication you send should be highly professional. This means formatted and edited for 100% accuracy in spelling, grammar, punctuation, and word choice. Your question or inquiry should be specific and clear. I will be able to respond more promptly if this is the case.

Also, I will not respond to any email that is not accurate or does not have a clear request. I check email regularly and late into the evening. If I do not respond within one business day, please apply proper diligence and follow-up, and resend your communication (assume that I’ve overlooked your message in error).

When authoring an email, please use an appropriate subject which is indicative of the contents of the message. For example: “Clarification question – Case 1.” Your primary point of reference is this syllabus. Please review in detail before approaching me with questions about the course structure and content contained in this syllabus. Do not be surprised if I refer you to the syllabus or Moodle as an answer.

My preference for contacting me is as follows:

1. Email (at any time)
2. Office hours / Appointment to speak via telephone/Skype – arrange via email
3. Voicemail message (recognize I am seldom in my office and check messages infrequently)

NORTH PARK UNIVERSITY
School of Business and Non-Profit Management

Technology Tools Expectations

Understanding technology tools in today's business environment is critical. As such, I require all work be done in Microsoft Word, Excel, or Powerpoint (or equivalent) and specify the appropriate tool for each assignment.

Computer Requirements: In order to effectively participate in and successfully complete this course, each participant will need to have access to a computer and a high-speed internet connection. Please visit <http://www.northpark.edu/Campus-Life-and-Services/Information-Technology/Network/Minimum-Requirements> information on computer requirements and network access.

Moodle: All students are expected to access Moodle. All grades and critical directions for assignments are posted on Moodle. This is also the official record for all grade-related issues. Check and audit grades regularly.

Email: All students are expected to check your North Park emails regularly (NOTE: Outside accounts like Yahoo and Hotmail often forwards class emails to your spam folder). I send significant information via email and expect all students to have read the information sent. If you do not use your North Park email address, please make sure email is being forwarded properly.

Software Tools: All students are expected to use the appropriate software for the course. This course relies heavily on Microsoft Word, Microsoft Excel, use of the internet, and many online research resources.

Policy on Ethics

PLEASE READ THIS SECTION THOROUGHLY

In keeping with our Christian heritage and commitment, North Park University (NPU) and the SBNM are committed to the highest possible ethical and moral standards. Just as we will constantly strive to live up to these high standards, we expect our students to do the same. To that end, cheating of any sort will not be tolerated. Students who are discovered cheating are subject to discipline up to and including failure of a course and expulsion.

Our definition of cheating includes but is not limited to:

- Plagiarism – the use of another's work as one's own without giving credit to the individual. This includes using materials from the Internet.
- Copying another's answers on an examination.
- Deliberately allowing another to copy one's answers or work.
- Signing an attendance roster for another who is not present.

You should not reference any material for this course other than the provided text and cases. This includes review of other class member's assignments, prior class member's assignments, any solutions found on the internet or other source. There is a NO tolerance policy and any action that appears to violate this policy will receive a 0 grade and potential failure for the overall course.

In the special instance of group work, the instructor will make clear his/her expectations with respect to individual vs. collaborative work. A violation of these expectations may be considered cheating as well. For further information on this subject you may refer to the Academic Dishonesty section of the University's Catalog (available at www.northpark.edu). In conclusion, it is North Park's mission to prepare you for a life of significance and service. Honesty and ethical behavior are the foundation upon which such lives are built. We therefore expect the highest standards of each student in this regard.

NORTH PARK UNIVERSITY
School of Business and Non-Profit Management

Student with Disabilities

Students with disabilities who believe that they may need accommodations in this class are encouraged to contact the SBNM program office (773-244-6270). Please do so as soon as possible to better ensure that such accommodations are implemented in a timely manner. For further information please review the following website: <http://www.northpark.edu/Campus-Life-and-Services/Disability-Resources>.

Use of APA Publication Manual

The School of Business and Nonprofit Management (SBNM) has adopted the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA) as the standard and required format for all written assignments in SBNM courses.

Our goal in adopting the APA Manual is to enhance student learning by:

1. Improving student's writing skills.
2. Standardizing the required format of all written assignments in all SBNM courses.
3. Emphasizing the importance of paper mechanics, grammatical constructs, and the necessity of proper citations.
4. Holding students accountable for high quality written work.

If you are unfamiliar with the requirements of the APA Publication Manual, we recommend that you purchase the reference manual and/or that you consult one or more of the suggested resources as listed on the Student Resources section of the SBNM website. It is your responsibility to learn and ensure that all written work is formatted according to the standards of the APA Manual.

In conclusion, it is our mission to prepare each student for a life of significance and service. Honesty and ethical behavior are the foundation upon which such lives are built. We therefore expect the highest standards of each student in this regard.
