Course Description:

This course will expose students to the possibilities that marketing can offer to further the mission of a nonprofit organization. The course will outline issues around nonprofit marketing and market readiness. It will then explore effective strategies for market analysis and marketing plans. The course will transition its focus to tangible tactics to develop, implement and measure marketing strategies.

Introductory Comments:

Times are tough for nonprofits. With mounting competition for fundraising support, greater demand for services, increasing pressure to meet and document effective performance, nonprofits face an enormous challenge. While many nonprofits have learned how to present their brand, few use strategic marketing to its fullest potential to advance their mission and achieve financial stability. Indeed, many nonprofit professionals are just beginning to learn how marketing and communication tools and strategies can be deployed in the nonprofit context to achieve greater success.

This class is designed to help nonprofit professionals fill this gap by demystifying the marketing process and showing how it can be employed in a mission-oriented setting. The class covers the steps for becoming a customer-focused nonprofit: developing a market-oriented mindset and leadership structure; assessing the external environment and competition; understanding and responding to customer needs and wants; developing a unique, differentiated position and brand identity in customers' minds; shaping programs and services to attract and retain customer segments; developing and delivering motivating and ethical messages; and designing a cost-effective communications mix for reaching targeted audiences. The class will also explore the benefits and risks involved with approaching funders as customers to satisfy a value exchange. By the end of the class, students will understand how to develop a comprehensive strategic marketing plan and manage its implementation to realize the greatest possible return from marketing expenditures – and how to do so in a way that honors their organization's mission and vision for social good.

Marketing Plan, Parts I and II

Assignment Specifications:

Over the 7-week course, students will develop a strategic marketing plan for a nonprofit organization of their choice. It is best to select an organization with which you have been or are currently involved as an employee, board member, donor, volunteer or service recipient so that you have sufficient knowledge of the organization's work and constituencies. If you are not currently involved with a nonprofit, you can select an organization whose work interests you, but you will have to base your analysis and recommendations on observation and the reasonable assumptions of an outsider. Alternatively, I can recommend an organization.

There is no one right way to write a marketing plan and the style and format can vary considerably among industries and organizational types. For the sake of consistency, please use the outline provided.

Marketing Plan Part I

- Mission and marketing plan objectives
- SWOT analysis
- Competitive set
- Customer Analysis

POLICY STATEMENTS

Academic Honesty

In keeping with our Christian heritage and commitment, North Park University and the School of Business and Nonprofit Management are committed to the highest possible ethical and moral standards. Just as we will constantly strive to live up to these high standards, we expect our students to do the same. To that end, cheating of any sort will not be tolerated. Students who are discovered cheating are subject to discipline up to and including failure of a course and expulsion.

Our definition of cheating includes but is not limited to:

1. Plagiarism – the use of another’s work as one’s own without giving credit to the individual. This includes using materials from the internet.
2. Copying another’s answers on an examination.
3. Deliberately allowing another to copy one’s answers or work.
4. Signing an attendance roster for another who is not present.

In the special instance of group work, the instructor will make clear his/her expectations with respect to individual vs. collaborative work. A violation of these expectations may be considered cheating as well. For further information on this subject you may refer to the Academic Dishonesty section of the University’s online catalog.

In conclusion, it is our mission to prepare each student for a life of significance and service. Honesty and ethical behavior are the foundation upon which such lives are built. We therefore expect the highest standards of each student in this regard.

Attendance Policy for Graduate Courses

The graduate courses in the SBNM are all 7 weeks in length. Missing one class session is allowed without penalty as long as all readings and assignments are made up by the student within a reasonable time period (the following week). Failing to log into an online course site for an entire week is allowed, but a penalty may be applied at the instructor’s discretion. Missing a second class session is allowed only in unusual circumstances by prior arrangement with the instructor. Since this represents almost 30% of the engagement time for the course, the student runs the risk of receiving a lower overall grade for the class. Faculty are encouraged to drop the course grade by a full letter grade in this situation. A student who misses three classes (or the equivalent two weeks for an online class) will automatically fail the course, unless the student drops the course before the seventh week of class. Students who drop a course will be held responsible for tuition, based upon the current North Park University refund policy outlined in the University Catalog.

Attendance Policy for Undergraduate Courses

Attendance and participation are vital. Thus, students are expected to attend every class session, and to arrive on time – tardiness is undesirable and disruptive to your fellow classmates. This course has a strict requirement of documented, advance notification. If you are unable to attend any class session, you are to inform me (preferably by email) prior to that session. You need to provide a reason for your absence. Failure to provide advance notification will result in an unexcused absence. Be advised that poor attendance can affect your grade adversely

APA Requirement

The School of Business and Nonprofit Management (SBNM) has adopted the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA) as the standard and required format for all written assignments in SBNM courses.

Our goal in adopting the APA Manual is to enhance student learning by:

- 1) Improving student's writing skills.
- 2) Standardizing the required format of all written assignments in all SBNM courses.
- 3) Emphasizing the importance of paper mechanics, grammatical constructs, and the necessity of proper citations.
- 4) Holding students accountable for high quality written work.

If you are unfamiliar with the requirements of the APA Manual, we recommend that you purchase the reference manual and/or that you consult one or more of the suggested resources as listed on the Student Resources section of the SBNM website. It is your responsibility to learn and ensure that all written work is formatted according to the standards of the APA Manual.

Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities who believe that they may need accommodations in this class are encouraged to contact your program's office (Business: 773-244-6270). Please do so as soon as possible to better ensure that such accommodations are implemented in a timely manner.
